

CBT

CANADA

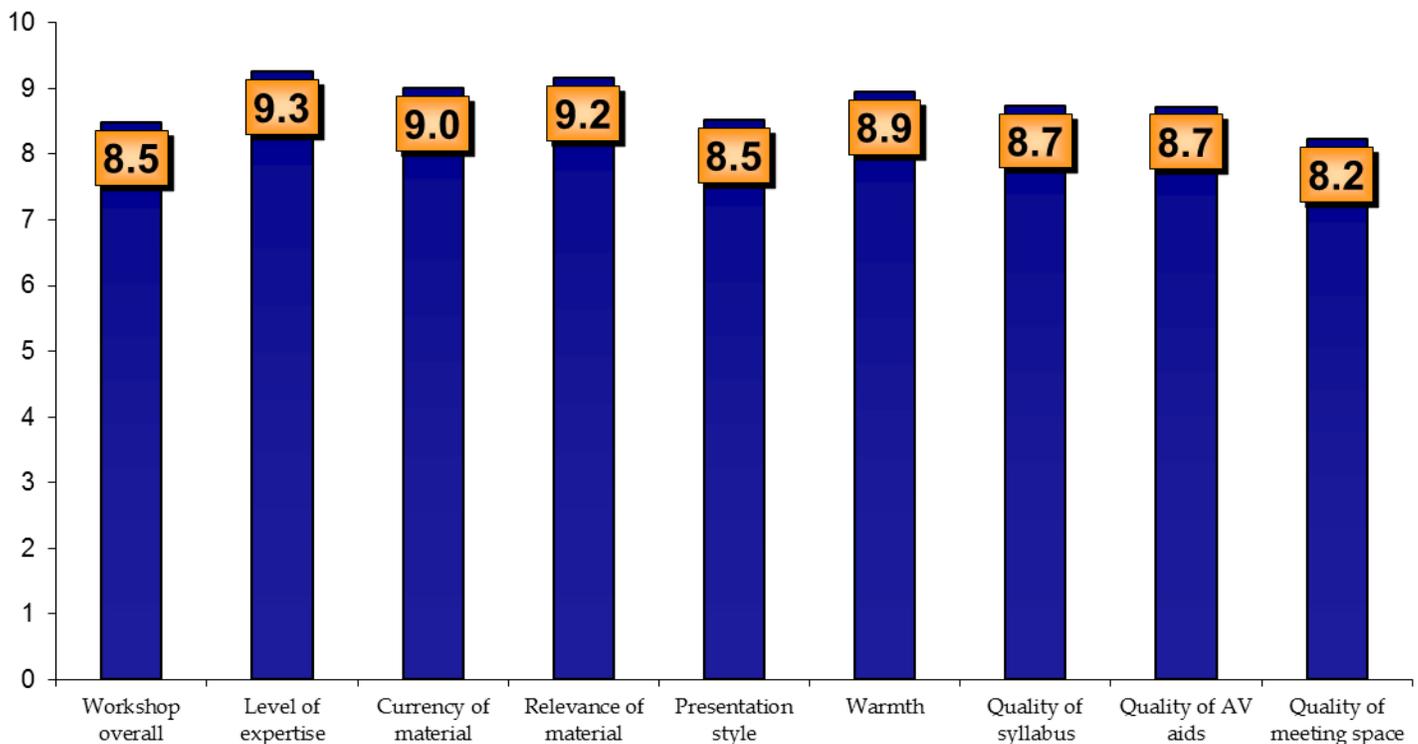

supratentorial medicine

May 13, 2015

Introduction to Medical CBT

Queen's University Department of Family Medicine

- Absolutely fantastic, relevant, and perfectly executed
- Applicable to my everyday
- Engaging presenter... good interactive format
- Excellent syllabus!
- Engaging & entertaining
- Very relevant... very important in the training of family physicians
- Great relevant content
- Amazing... really useful in practice immediately
- Presentation style is hilarious
- Exceptionally important. Now that I have this training, I feel I will use bits of it in almost every encounter
- Very important & applicable
- Great learning opportunity
- Very important... these are techniques we can use on all patients, not just for psychiatric issues

What family physicians say (continued) ...

- Relevant to real life constraints and scenarios
- Enthusiastic presenter
- Great slides
- Very relevant. These are the people we see everyday!
- Entertaining & easy to listen to
- Very important training for family physicians... great workshop
- 10/10 important... very applicable on a daily basis
- Presented clearly & w/ sense of humour/fun
- Very relevant to family practice... very enthusiastic presenter
- Dr. Dubord is hilarious
- Extremely important... probably one of the most fundamental skills in outpatient clinical practice.
- Very applicable.. extremely important!
- Love the jokes!
- Catchy, entertaining & informative
- Extremely relevant to family med—all GPs should have this!
- Practical tips that are time-effective + useful
- Perfect for family docs with limited time with which to interact with patients
- Incredibly important training for family physicians
- Great, concise, applicable information/tools
- Extremely important
- Very engaging & dynamic speaker
- Highly relevant for primary care
- So applicable, so pertinent

“

Extremely important... probably one of the most fundamental skills in outpatient clinical practice.

